Natural Capital: protecting the ocean and land biodiversity that underpins our economy

At COP26 in Glasgow, we hosted a fascinating discussion on how natural capital might provide a framework for a sustainable future. We were honoured to be joined by His Excellency Mohamed Nasheed, former President of the Maldives; Karen Sack, Co-Chair and Executive Director, ORRAA; Reinout Viersma, Programme Manager of Climate Adaption, Van Oord; Markus Müller, Global Head CIO Office, Deutsche Bank Private Bank; and Christian Nolting, Global Chief Investment Officer, Deutsche Bank Private Bank. Read more

Event video Biodiversity at Risk: the next big threat to the planet and your portfolio

In an event hosted by Claudio de Sanctis at Frieze London 2021, guest speakers Dominic Jermey CVO OBE, Director-General of the Zoological Society of London (ZSL), and Sir Partha Dasgupta, Frank Ramsey Professor Emeritus of Economics at the University of Cambridge, outlined the risks of biodiversity loss – and how a reimagined economic system might reverse this decline. Watch full event

CIO Special report Biodiversity: the new playing field for ESG assessment

Our latest CIO Special looks at likely future trends in ESG assessment and why biodiversity will be an increasingly important consideration. Download here

LUX magazine digital edition

This special issue of LUX magazine, created to coincide with Frieze Los Angeles, features a dedicated supplement on ocean conservation and biodiversity, plus an exclusive article about our support for emerging film-makers shortlisted for the Deutsche Bank Frieze Los Angeles Film Award. You can read a digital version of the magazine here

CIO Special report Natural capital and biodiversity: measurement and investment

Our CIO Special report looks at the topic of biodiversity from a natural capital perspective, and provides insights into how we can start to tackle the "triple planetary crisis" around climate, nature and pollution. Download here

Event video Ocean and Climate Change – protecting and harnessing nature's greatest carbon sink

As part of our blue economy series of events, three guest experts joined Christian Nolting, Global Chief Investment Officer for Deutsche Bank's Private Bank, to discuss how we can improve the health of the ocean – and harness its ability to combat climate change. Watch full event
